How will the Class of 2002 Fellowship be distributed?

Every year, starting from Academic Year 2012-13, together with the Class Leaders and according to the cash in hands raised (it goes without saying that open pledges can’t be distributed) the Bologna Center Office of Development decides the yearly amount of the fellowship.

Then, the Bologna Center Admission Committee selects the best candidate (no matter the nationality) who:

- demonstrates outstanding academic merit and financial need;
- has an interest in conflict resolution and/or international law and organizations.

The Office of Development introduces the Class of 2002 Fellowship recipient to the Class Leaders who will circulate the information (together with the letter of thanks written by the student) to the whole Class.

If possible, the Office of Development would organize every year a meeting (or a Skype conference) to introduce the Class of 2002 Fellowship recipient to the Class Leaders.
